In order to fish in Croatia, it is necessary to have a fishing licence or fishing permit that is obtainable from Croatian local offices or travel agents. You just pay the set fee and off you go. There is no age limit for fishing in Croatia.

Open fires or even using camping stoves outside of campgrounds is strictly prohibited. Also be careful when lighting the cigarette. Croatian coast is a high fire risk area especially in the summer.

The Croatian government requires all recreational skippers chartering Croatian flagged vessels to have a certificate of competence. Under Croatian law, the Ministry of Sea, Tourism, and Transport can only recognize licenses issued by the national authorities of other countries. Tourists in Croatia can be certified at harbour masters' offices in Pula, Rijeka, Senj, Zadar, Sibenik, Split, Ploce, and Dubrovnik, as well as at the Ministry in Zagreb.
